

Kirschner, General, killed by a cannon-ball, iii. 288.	Pichegru to return to France, ii. 210; sentenced to death, 286; pardoned, 287; error respecting, iii. 290, n.
Kleber, General, division of, marches on Alexandria, i. 135; wounded in the attack, ib. ; plague in his division, 181, n. ; discontent of, 184; his complaints to the Directory, 210; assassination of, ii. 11; character of, 13.	Lalande, M., his Dictionary of Atheists , ii. 201.
Kohler, General, accompanies Napoleon to Elba, iv. 19; departs from Elba, 52.	Lallemand, General, pun respecting, iv. 122; refused permission to accompany Napoleon to St. Helena, 220; career, 380, n.
Konning, M., his attempted suicide, iii. 278.	La Monarchie selon la Charte , extract from, iv. 225.
Kray, Baron, movements of, ii. 39, n.	Landoire, M., anecdotes of, ii. 19.
Labedoyere, Charles, remark of, iv. 42; rejoins Napoleon at Grenoble, iv. 61; character of, ib. , n. ; pun respecting, 122; his fidelity to Napoleon, 200.	Lannes, Marshal (Duke of Montebello), despatched to Marseilles, i. 84; accompanies General Bonaparte to the different ports, 115; dissatisfaction of, 147; his rash skirmish, 181; returns to France with Bonaparte, 207; epitome of life, 320, n. ; defeats General Ott at Montebello, 389; his description of the battle of Montebello, 392; sabre of honor given to, by Napoleon, ii. 4; presents the flags taken at Marengo to the Government, 6; accompanies Napoleon to the opera, 23; anecdote of, 52; his Laborde, M. Alexandre de, work of, iii. 243.
Laborie, General, appointed Secretary to the Provisional Government, iii. 360.
Lac^pede, M. de, discourse of, ii. 308.
Lacu^e, incurs the displeasure of Napoleon, ii. 293; death, ib. , n.
Lafayette, M., assertion respecting, iv. 204.
Lafitte, M., his opinion of the proposed surrender of Paris, iii. 351.
Lafond, M., his duel, ii. 359.
Lagau, M., complaints of, iii. 82.
Lagarde, M., Secretary-General to the Directory, i. 118.
Lagrene^e, M., his friendship for General Pichegru, ii. 248.
La Haye Sainte, defence of farm of, iv. 174.
Laine^, M., accusation against, iii. 308.
Lajolais, M., prevails on General

quarrel with Napoleon, 125; sent to Liébon, 127; created a Marshal, 266; bold artifice of, 406.	34.
- Madame, appointed lady of honor to the Empress Maria Louisa, iii. 191.	Lauer, General, examines M. Staps, iii. 181; his account of his execution, 182.
Lanusse, General, generous conduct of, i. 209; his remonstrances to Napoleon, ii. 88.	Laugier, assassinated by the Venetians, i. 64.
La Place, appointed Minister of the Interior, and succeeded by Lucien Bonaparte, i. 263.	Lauriston, General, arrives in London with the preliminaries of peace, ii. 65; anecdotes related by, 315; his visit to M. Bourrienne, 320; accompanies the Empress Maria Louisa to Paris, iii. 191; sent Ambassador to St. Petersburg, 251; taken prisoner, 299, n.
Laporte, M., signs the order for General Bonaparte's arrest, i. 22.	Latour-Maubourg, M., detained prisoner at Olmutz, i. 61.
Larochejaequelin, M., proscribed by Napoleon, iv. 75, n.	Lavallette, General Count, seizes upon the post-office, iv. 70; his disclosures respecting the Emperor and Empress, -112; his remarks on Napoleon's health, 124; his interview with him, 201, 205; his visit to M. Decré, 208; returns to Napoleon, 208; and his Bourbon-persecutors, 297.
La Rothière, battle of, iii. 345.
Larrey, Baron, iv. 378, n.
Lasalle, General, killed at the battle of Wagram, iii. 205.
Las Cases, M., despatched to the commander of the English squadron, iv. 211; his interview with Captain Maitland, 213; accompanies Napoleon to St. Helena, 308; his journal, 310; his opinion of Napoleon's constitution, 316; his account of Longwood, 318, «; translates the English newspapers to Napoleon, 321; his complaints against the provisions, 329; irritated against Sir Hudson Lowe, 332; anecdote of Napoleon, related by, ib. , n. ; sent away from St. Helena, 337; his career, 378, n.
Latour Foissac, General, Napoleon's conduct to, i. 297; taken prisoner by the Austrians, 304; inquiry into his conduct, ib. ; his justification, ib.
Lauderdale, Earl of, recalled from Paris, iii.	